MEMORANDUM FOR MR. HOUSTON

SUBJECT: Travel Expenses for Appointees

"Can CIA pay the travel expenses of a newly appointed employee to Washington from his home at the time of appointment, when Washington is his first permanent duty station?"

"The rules is well established that a newly appointed employee must at his own expense report to his first official duty station, and only to the extent of additional costs resulting from temporary duty required en route is reimbursement proper...."

"In view of the above, your question must be answered in the negative."
